CPH 3

Tactical Leaflet CPH 3 was produced by the United States Ninth Army for use against the German Army in October 1944. The front depicts a sky full of silhouetted four-engine bombers and the text:

Did you hear us?

The back is all text. Some of the message is:

German Soldiers on the Western Front

We heavy bombers will do no immediate harm to you. We leave this to the weapons of our tactical air force. We fly in German air space about 10,000 meters above your heads. Your fox holes are not our aim. Our aims are the factories producing your ammunition, railroad tracks which supply you and bridges which connect you with your home. We bombed the bridges of Julich on 29 October. We dropped 9,000 tons of explosives on Cologne in nine attacks from 28 to 31 October. We systemically bomb important war industries 50-100 kilometers behind your front.

Think about the destruction every time that we come with out four-engine bombers. We will be back soon.

You will hear from us again!
